

Prof. Dr. Raimond Maurer

Prof. Dr. Raimond Maurer holds since 2000 the Chair of Investment, Portfolio Management and Pension Finance at the Finance Department of the Goethe University Frankfurt. He received his habilitation, dissertation, as well as diploma in business administration from Mannheim University. He holds the degree of an honorary doctor from the State University of Finance and Economics of St. Petersburg.

Dr. Maurer is member of the Senate of the Goethe University Frankfurt and serves as Dean at the Faculty of Business and Economics. In the academic year 2013 he was the Metzler Visiting Professor at the Wharton School. His main research interests focus on asset management, life-time portfolio choice, real estate, and pension finance.

Dr. Maurer has various experiences in policy and industry consulting (e.g for the World Bank, ECB, FED) and holds several professional positions like at the Union Real Estate Investment (Member of the Supervisory Board), the Society of Actuaries (academic chairman of AFIR group), the Association of Certified International Investment Analysts (academic director and member of the International Examination Committee), and the Pension Research Council at the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania (member of advisory board).

Dr. Maurer has published in various international journals, including Journal of Financial Economics, Review of Financial Studies, Review of Finance, Financial Analysts Journal, Journal of Portfolio Management, Journal of Asset Management, Journal of Risk & Insurance, Journal of Banking & Finance, or the Journal of Economic Dynamics & Control.