

Mr. Csaba Harsányi has 28 years of professional experience, all in serving the public sector in its activities related to EU integration. Having obtained an Executive Masters degree in International and European Relations at the Amsterdam School of International Relations, he joined the Hungarian Development Bank, the public bank in Hungary responsible for assisting the restructuring and integration of the Hungarian Economy in light of EU accession. Since Hungary's accession, he has been using his in-depth knowledge of programming and implementation of pre-accession and structural and cohesion instruments as a consultant. His references include preparation of evaluations, analyses and studies commissioned by the Hungarian government as well as by EU institutions, and also providing technical assistance for public institutions in candidate and potential candidate countries. He has practical experience in project management, in drafting strategic documents and policy papers as well as in different forms of know-how transfer and lecturing. His main field of expertise is EU financial instruments, both centrally managed and decentralised. Between 1999 and 2003 and again since 2010 Mr Harsányi has been working as the director of the Brussels Representative Office of the Hungarian Development Bank.
